EDWARD BURNETT TYLOR.

TO

EDWARD BURNETT TYLOR,

F.R.S., HON. D.C.L., HON. LL.D.,

HONORARY FELLOW OF BALLIOL COLLEGE,

PROFESSOR OF ANTHROPOLOGY IN THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD,

EX-PRESIDENT OF THE ROYAL ANTHROPOLOGICAL INSTITUTE

OF

GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

To commemorate the occasion of your seventy-fifth birthday, and in token of admiration and regard, the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland dedicates to you this current volume of its Journal.

By universal consent, your RESEARCHES INTO THE EARLY HISTORY OF MANKIND, and your study of PRIMITIVE CULTURE, have placed you in the foremost rank of the founders of ANTHROPOLOGY. No living student of this Science fails to acknowledge his debt to your clear analysis and eloquent presentation of the great principles of human progress. Many, whose memories will ever be honoured among us, have been proud to reckon themselves your colleagues. Many, too, of the younger generation owe to you personally the first encouragement to devote themselves to anthropological study. Your writings are read and esteemed in many tongues; your name is honoured wherever there are students of the Science of Man.

To you, as one of its founders, as its President from 1879 to 1881, and from 1891 to 1893, and as a member of its Council throughout, the Institute itself has been indebted for wise guidance and constant goodwill; and your frequent contributions to its Journal are valued as models of exposition and criticism.

Your Professorship in Oxford was the first, and for long the only, public recognition of British Anthropology as an organised subject of learning as an educational discipline of high value. Your teaching, continued now for nearly a generation, and supplemented, as it has been, by the Pitt Rivers Museum, that magnificent benefaction of your friend and colleague, is already seen to have had profound effect on the growth of humane studies in this country. You have given a new standpoint for the criticism of ancient literatures, arts, beliefs, and institutions; and you have thereby rendered to the study of History and Political Science a service which will be of the highest value to Administrators.

These services have not been without effect on the University itself. The establishment in Oxford of a Diploma Course in ANTHROPOLOGY is a direct result of your teaching and your personal initiative; and we congratulate you on having seen your Professorship reinforced and supported by a band of students and colleagues, for the most part pupils of your own.

To our felicitations on your long and distinguished life, and our cordial recognition of your great services to the Study of Mankind, we would add our earnest desire that you may long retain among us your acknowledged place as the Father of Anthropology.
